By SCOTT HOLTZMAN

The manchild of moonstones and magic is among us again. Donovan, who lives and dreams in medieval longing, again brings the world his delicate gentleness and love through a twin-LP package entitled "A Gift From A Flower To A Garden" (Epic).

One is "For Little Ones" and is a poetic gift from Donovan to the children of the world. The other is "Wear Your Love Like Heaven" and is for anyone who cares to listen.

You can buy them either singly or in the boxed package. The advantage of the box is that inside is a folio of Donovan's poetry, complete with fitting illustrations. You can't get this without the package.

Surprisingly enough, the most important single item about the package is neither the music nor the poetry. It is the significance of Donovan's dedication. He has long been known to use references to drugs in his songs, but now (like The Beatles) he has grown into the philosophy of Maharishi Mahesh Yogi and has forsaken the use of drugs. This East Indian Guru may just be (through his influence on the Idols) the most significant factor in helping to lead this confused generation out of the wilderness and into the new dawn.

I could paraphrase Donovan's dedication, but he says what he means and means what he says so well that I want to print it here in its entirety. I bow to Donovan:

Oh, what a Dawn Youth is Rising to,
by Donovan Leitch

With all the Love in my Heart
I bequeath this gift from one flower
to many.

I wish only to enhance and beautify the days of youth that in doing so their young minds be filled with pleasant images.

"Phonograph the First" may be described as music for my age group, an age group which is gently entering marriage.

The children of the Dawning generation
are already being born.
To these dear "little ones" I bequeath the second phonograph record

A new born child is a pure and a Holy flower
and it is possible to tend and water this child-plant with due care and attention
that it may blossom and seek the Sun.

It is only right.

I honestly believe my generation is a blessed one and that we will tend to these newborn ones, so fresh from God's lips.

We shall fill their days with fairies and elves and pussys and paints, with laughter
and song and the gentle influence of Mother Nature.

To fulfill this all-important task we ourselves
need the children's tales, once so loved in bygone days.

Tales in song and in books.
Toys of wood and paper.
Homes of warmth and comfort, with love
and smiles.

No child shall be lonely.

And so I sing my poems of the beauty I see that all may see and know the re-assurance
I know, that God is Love.

I call upon every youth to stop the use of all Drugs and banish them into the dark and dismal places.
For they are crippling our blessed growth.

Must you lay down your Fate
to the Lord High Alchemy
In the hands of the Chalk and the Drug Magic Circles he will spin
and dirges he will sing
through the transparency of a Queen Ant's Wing.

Yes, I call upon every youth to stop the use of all Drugs and heed the Quest to seek the Sun.

These poems are for youth, that is true, but they are fluid in their nature and may be enjoyed by All.

And I'm sure no adult man or woman will be offended if I direct them to my generation and our children to be. To the blessed inheritors of all these lands.

New horizons could not be reached in my work had I not the parental assurance of the most advanced recording company.
Epic Records have followed my dreams to these Shores of Song.
For which I thank them deeply.

I do hope you enjoy my new writings.
Thy humble minstrel Donovan

*One need only look at our frustrated youth to see the fantastic amount of misdirected energy.

Scott's Sneak of the Week: "Zabadak" by Dave Dee, Dozy, Beaky, Mick and Tich (Imperial)

Scott's Tip of the Week: The new Jimi Hendrix album on Capitol is a hoax. Jimi never sings on it. He's playing guitar for Curtis Knight. It is obviously old tapes and should be listened to before buying. The Jimi Hendrix Experience records exclusively for Reprise Records.
